

As you can see there are About 2,720,000 results already in youtube and if you are going to create a video on same topic then 2.7M videos are already there. So I don't think that your video will get good views. If you are thinking to change the topic and want to create videos on "How to fair your skin ? ". Then first search it on youtube and as previous About 8,470,000 results are already present there. So finally let me tell you there is no chance that you will get videos on these type of topics where millions of videos already created if your channel is on starting stage, but if your channel is famous and you have a good number of subscribers then you can make videos on same topics.

But as you know you are a new youtuber with no or less subscribers then you must notice the topic results after searching a topic on youtube. If the results are below 5000 then you can choose that topic. If the results are below 2000 then that will be a best topic to get more views and more subscribers.

There is also a method to find results for a particular topic. You can search anything on the search box of youtube to get minimum results. Only search for that topic which one visitor is already searching and that topic or similar topic appearing in youtube search suggestion box.

So what i mean is you must search the topic which are being searched by users and by using them if
