About Me

I m Sakshi, web developer by profession and blogger by passion . I completed my primary education 2012 and received my degree in Multimedia in 2015. Currently I am working in an IT Company.

I found blogging to be a great medium for sharing my favorite things with the world. So, I started writing random stuff related to web and Programming world. Here in this blog I write about all the problems, new things and solutions that I found in my whole day.
